KEYMAR CHILD DIES HERE OF CRASH INJURIES

Donald Eugene Thomas, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Francis Thomas, Keymar, Md., was fatally injured Thursday evening when a car driven by his mother figured in an accident two miles north of Keymar on the Taneytown Rd.

The child and a sister, Linda Lee Thomas, 8, who suffered lacerations of the head, were brought to the Warner Hospital here in the Taneytown ambulance following the auto accident at 6:15 o'clock.

The Adams County coroner, Dr. C. G. Crist, said the younger child died of a fractured skull, cerebral concussion and severe lacerations of the tongue in the hospital at 10:30 o'clock Thursday night.

Dr. Crist said he was informed that there had been six people in the car and the child was thrown from the vehicle by the impact. The injured were taken first to a Taneytown physician by car and then brought to Gettysburg by ambulance, according to the coroner.

WAS TRYING TO PASS

Maryland state police at Westminster said Mrs. Clara Ellis Thomas, Keymar, mother of the child, was driving the car owned by the husband and father, Carl Francis Thomas.

According to the officers, Mrs. Thomas was driving south on Route 194 and attempted to pass when her car collided with a northbound auto operated by Fred Allen Green, 22, Taneytown R. 1.

Police did not make an immediate estimate of damage.

LOCAL FAMILY ADOPTS 2ND KOREAN GIRL

This was a good Christmas for Laura Ann Snyder.

For one thing she became two years old five days before Christmas and thus had a birthday and a Christmas party close together.

And since she is now all of two years old, the toys and tree of Christmas were much more memorable.

And even more important she has a baby sister who, Laura Ann is convinced, is just a real living doll and more delightful than the other dolls given her.

BOTH KOREAN NATIVES

Many other children might have had a similar experience—but in Laura Ann case she is thousands of miles from her birthplace and so is her new sister.

Laura Ann is a native of Korea, brought here in May, 1961, to become the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Snyder, 100 Artillery Drive, Twin Oaks.

Laura Ann's new sister, Lisa Ann, is seven months old and arrived from Korea on December 14. Laura Ann is scheduled to be naturalized next June in Adams County court—having been in the United States over two years and her sister, Lisa Ann, will have to wait two years before she too becomes a citizen. The two will grow up as American girls, daughters of the developer of Twin Oaks and his wife.

THRU WELFARE SERVICES

Laura Ann arrived in Idlewild Airport from Korea in company with several other Korean children who also are going into adopted homes to join other Korean youngsters. One was a boy aged seven, whose new parents from Green Valley, N.Y., (Continued on Page 3)

Cubans Talk Of Another Invasion To Oust Castro

By THEODORE A. EDIGER
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Talk of another possible thrust against Fidel Castro surged through the Cuban exile colony today even as freed prisoners of the last attempt were reunited with newly arrived relatives.

The relatives, numbering more than 900, came aboard the African Pilot, the vessel that took food and medicine ransom supplies to Castro for release of 1,113 captives taken in the April 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

"We shall return," proclaimed Manuel Artime, civilian leader of the attack expedition, who along with other invasion chiefs met with President Kennedy in Palm Beach Thursday.

Increased stress on the career aspects of the Explorer program of the Boy Scouts of America was discussed Thursday night at a meeting of the advisors of the Black Walnut District Explorer units at the home of the assistant district commissioner, Dr. Richard Greenholt, in Littlestown.

Preliminary plans were made for regular district meetings for the Explorers at which outstanding men in various professions will explain the aspects of their work during visits to business places and plants.

In addition, each Explorer will be encouraged to complete the studies and obtain the merit badges pertaining to the career of his choice, or choices. Noting that more than 100 merit badges are available under the Scouting program, Dr. Greenholt said he will divide the list under various careers and send the Explorer advisors copies of that list for the guidance of the members of their units.

CITES TWO GOALS

The Littlestown dentist told the group that "Exploring is the ultimate goal of Scouting at the present time. The Cub program aims toward Boy Scouting. Scouting aims toward Exploring. Each program should be distinct and a step-stone toward the other."

305 LICENSED TO WED IN '62

The divorce rate in Adams County is about 10 per cent of the new marriages, a year-end tabulation of the two registries in the county courthouse shows.

In 1962 marriage licenses were issued to 305 couples, six more than were issued in 1961. June again was the most popular month in which to marry, with 42 couples receiving their licenses, while May, with 31, was second, and August and September tied with 30 each. January was low with only 16 marriage license applications.

Divorces, too, were up slightly from last year, with 23 granted. Twenty-four actions were started but have not been completed; one was dismissed and one marriage annulled. In 1961, only 20 decrees were granted, a decrease of seven from the previous year.

Of four divorce proceedings started in 1961, two decrees were granted this year, and one action, which was started in 1960, was completed this year. Three actions have been started for the February term of court. The year started with seven on the book for February, 1962.

NOT GUILTY BUT PAY COSTS LAW IS CHALLENGED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union has challenged a 158-year-old Pennsylvania law, believed unique in the United States, whereby a defendant can be acquitted, but still ordered to pay court costs.

Specifically the civil liberties Union has filed an appeal for Jay Giaccio, who was acquitted by a Chester County jury last April of a weapons charge. But then jury then ordered Giaccio to pay court costs—$230.95.

The civil liberties union says such a situation occurs many times each year in Pennsylvania, but in its brief says that this is the first time the law has ever been appealed.

CALLED UNCONSTITUTIONAL

The brief in Giaccio's case also forms the basis for another challenge of the law, that one involving a Pittsburgh libel case.

The civil liberties union argues that the law is unconstitutional because it violates the due process clause of state and federal constitutions and the basic principle of fairness. It applies only to misdemeanors.

The civil liberties union also believes the law was drafted by mistake.

Lawyers say the "not guilty but pay the costs" law is generally considered a compromise verdict. If the jury has some doubt there being enough evidence to convict, but knows it can charge court costs, it might take the more lenient course.

ONLY IN PENNA.

The civil liberties union argues, that to order an acquitted defendant to pay court costs or go to prison until he does so is to punish a man for an unspecified crime he has never been charged with or given a chance to defend himself against.

In the civil liberties brief drawn by Peter Hearn and James C.N. Paul, who teaches law at the University of Pennsylvania, it is argued that the provision is not found in common law, nor before 1804, nor in any other state.

The civil liberties union has asked the original courts in Chester and Allegheny counties to reverse orders by juries requiring defendants to pay costs. A spokesman in Philadelphia said the civil liberties union will take the case to federal courts if necessary. The decision is pending in each case.

CRIME EXAMPLES

In the Chester County case Giaccio, of Schuylkill township was indicted and acquitted on charges of pointing a deadly weapon at someone. A charge of discharging a deadly weapon was dismissed. In Pittsburgh, W. L. King, editor of the "Voice of the Nazarenes," was acquitted in November of criminal libel charges but assessed court costs. The civil liberties union assisted him in his fight against the assessment.

The libel charges concerned an alleged oath of the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic laymen's organization.

2,000 TO LEAVE

"The next boat that takes supplies of medicines and foodstuffs to Havana will return with 2,000 more Cubans," said a committee official.

There was no immediate confirmation of this.

Kennedy told the Cuban delegation in Palm Beach that he "hopes some day to visit a free Cuba."

NEW FOOD AND DRUG POST FOR DR. F. KELSEY

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, hailed as national heroine for keeping thalidomide off the American market, today was put at the head of a new U.S. office which will pass on requests to test new drugs on humans.

Her appointment as director of the investigational drug branch was part of a reorganization at the Food and Drug Administration's new drug division which was approved today by Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze.

In a statement Celebrezze said the retooling of the drug division into five branches will permit the FDA to cope with its increased responsibilities in the new drug area.

MORE AUTHORITY

As a backlash of the outcry over thalidomide — a sedative blamed for deformities of thousands of infants born in Europe — Congress last October enacted a law giving the FDA stronger authority over production and sales of prescription drugs.

To carry out the new law and to make administration changes the FDA proposed a rash of tighter regulations which after being discussed and criticized are now being redrafted.

An FDA spokesman said today that the regulations dealing with the testing of drugs on humans will be issued fairly soon.

TO CHECK NEW DRUGS

Dr. Kelsey's investigational drug branch, according to the FDA announcement, "is being established to evaluate reports of proposed clinical tests of new drugs" which manufacturers and others will submit in compliance with the investigational drug regulations.

"Frankly, I don't know what it (the new job) will consist of" until the regulations come out, Dr. Kelsey told a newsman.

But broadly her duties, for which she will receive $15,045 yearly, will be to check on reports of firms proposing to test new drugs on humans.

NEW AUTHORITY

She will be operating under new powers which give the FDA authority, among other things, to:

Require substantial evidence that a drug is effective as well as safe before it may be approved for marketing.

Bar the marketing of a new drug until it has received the affirmative approval of the FDA which also received additional time to pass on the safety and effectiveness of the drugs.

GOT GOLD MEDAL

Require that new drugs be tested on animals before they are given to humans in clinical testing.

Dr. Kelsey became known as the heroine of the thalidomide episode by refusing to permit U.S. marketing of the German drug despite what she described as the "great pressure brought to bear."

For this, Dr. Kelsey, 48, received a gold medal for distinguished government service from President Kennedy who told her that the hopes "we have for all our children" were riding with her decision to bar the drug.

Father Of Nine Is Sentenced To Pen

A 42-year-old father of nine children was sentenced in Cumberland County court Thursday to a one and a half to five-year term in the Eastern State penitentiary after pleading guilty to morals charges and contributing to the delinquency of his teen-age daughter.

Raymond L. Monismith, of Gardners R. 1, received the sentence for offenses which occurred between early summer, 1960, and June of this year.

Monismith's sentence, imposed by resident Judge Dale F. Shugart, starts as of August 9, the day the defendant was jailed. Judge Shugart also ordered Monismith to pay a $1 fine.

FOOD SCARCE

"There is money, but food is hard to come by," said Mrs. Norge Portuondo, a teacher of Spanish in a Santiago Teacher's College. "You need government authorization to buy good clothes or luxury items and it's easier to do without than stand in the long lines."

Mrs. Portuondo, 36, whose husband got permission to leave Cuba one month after their marriage, said that after he was captured in the invasion she tried to resign from her job.

The 50-member choir ended its singing and the voice of a priest rose in an exhortation for peace among nations and understanding between men of different political persuasions.

The scene took place on a recent Sunday in Budapest's Matyas Church, a multi-spired Gothic cathedral overlooking the Danube from atop the river's bluffs.

The following day, the churchgoers read front-page editorials on atheism in their morning newspapers while their children attended compulsory classes on atheism.

The situation symbolizes the present relationship between the church and the government in Communist Hungary — a tacit agreement to tolerate one another.

NOT ALWAYS THIS WAY

"The regime recognizes the religious attitude of the majority of Hungarians," an informant said, "while at the same time encouraging atheism, especially among the young people."

"The church for its part," he continued, "is careful to avoid saying anything that could be considered antiregime, concentrating instead on generalities such as peace and brotherhood."

It has not always been this way in Hungary. Before the 1956 revolution, the country's Stalinist regime tried to strangle the church by obstructing its activities by every possible means.

CENTERING ON YOUTH

The regime, to be sure, has not given up completely its attempts to turn the populace to atheism.

But experience has taught that little can be done with the older citizenry, so the government is centering its attention largely on youth.

The campaign, however, has not achieved the success its organizers had hoped.

Communist officials readily admit that a few young people have been influenced and that attempts in rural areas to substitute atheist forms for weddings, christenings and funerals have had little success.

CALIFORNIANS TOOT INCREASE IN POPULATION

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — California, or some of its chambers of commerce, whooped it up today to celebrate the state's disputed claim to the biggest population in the nation.

New York, still No. 1 in the 1960 census, has challenged California's claim. Each state had an estimated population of 17.4 million this month.

California residents were urged by state officials and some chambers of commerce to give a four-day "California First" celebration a rousing sendoff with bells, canons, auto horns and factory whistles.

Some chambers demurred, saying it smacked of Texas-style bragging.

Dissenters noted that bigness had its problems, such as smog, congested freeways, crowded schools and high taxes.

Los Angeles, which probably has more to toot about than any other area, planned no special observance.

Some communities have already observed the state's emergence and others were celebrating today.

An illuminated sign on the San Francisco side of the bay bridge flashed population estimates showing California leading Roads Slippery After Season's First Snowfall: Adams county highways were "a little slippery, but in good shape," the state highway department announced here at noon today after 20 plows had worked since 3 o'clock this morning to keep up with the rapidly falling snow.

The flakes began to fall around 1:30 o'clock and, an hour later, highway employees were notified to get ready for work. Cinder crews were among the first out as highways became slippery from the snow.

An even blanket of from 3/4 to 4 inches was spread over the county, the plow crews reported, with little more snow in the mountains than fell in the lower parts of the county. * * *

Town's "Sno-Loader" Gets First Test: With the weather man sending a belated "White Christmas" to Gettysburg today, the borough had its first opportunity of the season to try out the new "sno-loader" purchased recently by action of council.

The machine, pushed behind a borough truck, was first put into use on Baltimore street this morning to pick up the snow pushed to the sides of the street by plows.

The principal drawback to the operation of the snowloader this morning was the delay caused by parked automobiles. Borough employees several times were forced to stop and wait until cars were moved before they could proceed with the cleaning of snow from the gutters.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner said today that he would recommend to the borough council at its January meeting the adoption of an ordinance prohibiting the parking of cars and trucks in the metered district of the town after a snow until the snowloader has removed the snow. * * *

Dr. John Ostrom Wins Promotion At Wittenberg: Dr. John W. Ostrom, former instructor at Gettysburg college and son-in-law of Burgess C. A. Heiges, Buford avenue, has been named acting head of the English department at Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio, according to news reports from that city.

He succeeds Dr. Gilbert P. Voight, who resigned due to ill health. Doctor Ostrom, an authority on Edgar Allan Poe, has been a professor of English at Wittenberg since September. He taught at The Citadel in Charleston, S. C., where he was assistant professor of English; Gettysburg college, Augustana college at Rock Island, Ill., and the University of Virginia before going to Wittenberg.

Author of a two-volume work, "The Letters of Edgar Allan Poe," which is to be published by the Harvard University Press, Doctor Ostrom received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Virginia last June. * * *

Today's Talk

OTHER LIVES

I recall meeting two new interesting men — each famous in his own right. One was a writer, the other an etcher. Each opened doors to me. I walked in. And I opened as many doors as I thought each would like to walk through — and so there we talked at luncheon, and then to my office, where a little feast upon books and art was had!

And now, as I put down the reflections of these talks, and reflect upon the companionship, the feeling is brought to me that we keep living in other lives. We keep entering secret chambers and, every once in a while, something new and precious is opened up to us that has never been opened up to anyone else.

We are very undeveloped creatures at best. There is a lingering hunger within us all. And each of us has stores of mental and spiritual food that we faintly reserve for others — bits of love and beauty that seem too deep in value for our own consumption.

Every one we meet should take something of each of us away with him or her — likewise, we should dip into other lives and take from their storehouse, which is so freely offered to us. The healthy life is the giving life.

Every human being is a composite life. The finest man or woman is that one who has touched the most people, gathered the most from the stores of all life and nature.

We all miss out on our new friends. We expect something from them at once, whereas we should be thrilled with the opportunity of offering something to them, thus cementing a relationship full of promise and possible joy.

No matter how insignificant our little life may seem to us, particles from it may be spread far and wide. We are all the time absorbing, unconsciously, from others, and others are absorbing from us. Every great life is a meshing of hundreds of other lives.

The American Latin phrase is "E pluribus unum" — out of many, one — whereas our lives might read — out of one, many!

Tomorrow's subject: "Responsibility."

The man who runs the pawn shop said:

"On this I can't afford to lend, The stuff is just as cheap as lead. I'm sorry, but good day, my friend."

"I thought it gold," the man replied. The broker slowly shook his head. "Most people when they're trouble-tried Learn what they thought was gold is lead."

"That's how it goes! In times of doubt When want begins and plenty ends,

We get the startling truth about Our glittering trinkets—and our friends."

Home Is Burned In Mountains: Fire Monday afternoon destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. John West, near Graeffenburg Inn, along the Lincoln highway causing damage estimated at $5,000.

The fire broke out in the West home as Mrs. West was seated in the living room, holding the younger of her two children, Dona Rae, four months old. Hearing a noise on the back porch, Mrs. West found a 50-gallon kerosene drum in flames. Fuel from the tank was supplied to a cooking stove in the kitchen and a heating stove in the living room through tubing.

Mrs. West carried her daughter to safety and summoned help. Fanned by winds, the flames swept through the five-room frame house and destroyed the building and practically all the contents, including the family's clothing.

The husband was at his employment at the shops of the Chambersburg Engineering Co., and Robert West, aged six, was at school in Buchanan Valley. * * *

Uses Found For Old Christmas Trees: Make arrangements now with your friends and neighbors to get their Christmas trees when they are ready to discard them. There is no better winter protection for plants which retain some top growth, though it may have turned brown or gray. A few branches are all that is needed to shade the soil surface effectively and to reduce alternate thawing and freezing to a minimum. Evergreen branches are also ideal for covering bulb beds. They look neat and are easily removed when spring temperatures arrive. * * *

ARKANSAS CITY

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark. (AP) — Page by page, this southeastern Arkansas community is slipping back into history — back into the busy, bustling Mississippi River port it was half a century ago.

WOULD LURE TOURISTS

The citizens' do-it-yourself rejuvenation of the town into a reproduction of its own heyday is expedited to attract a commodity perhaps as valuable as the cotton and timber upon which it once thrived — the tourist.

At the turn of the century, Arkansas City was a growing Mississippi River port with a population of 10,000.

The optimism existed from 1873, when the little port was founded, until over a quarter of the 20th century was gone.

Hope began to end when the fickle Mississippi kept on receding, backing farther and farther away to settle in a channel she had cut three miles away.

Arkansas City was left high, if not dry.

RESTORATION PLAN

Since that year, virtually nothing new has come to the town — no railroads, no highways, no industry and few residents.

The appearance of the town has changed little in the past years. And in this lies the renewed hope of those who were born in the community and do not want to see it added to the list of he dying.

The plan is simply to restore, year by year, each historic building, eventually turning the town into a facsimile of the port they remember.

John Settle, Seven Stars, discloses that he helped in the search for the B-29 crew that was forced down in the sub-Arctic north of Nome on December 24.

The letter, written that day, said he had 12 hours of flying over Alaska ahead of him as a member of the crew of one of six planes sent from Fairbanks to aid in the search. His commanding officer, Plank wrote, promised the searchers their Christmas turkey upon their return.

But since eruption is triggered by glandular changes, none of those measures guarantees immunity. Their action is one of amelioration.

CANNERS BOW TO ALUMNI CAGERS 51-39

"I hope," said Bolan, "we'll be able to iron out an agreement and reduce it to writing for a contract. I don't think we'll be able to do it all in one night."

What about the two main items standing in the way of the proposed rematch—Liston's purse from the first fight and the opposition of World Boxing Association officials?

"Liston will get the money (more than $200,000) before he fights," said Bolan's brother, Al, who is charged with inspection of sites for the rematch.

MAY MEAN SUSPENSION

Tom Bolan said he wasn't concerned about the statements made by WBA officials, who have publicly stated that Patterson should meet one of the other challengers before fighting Liston again. Both Maryland and Nevada are members of the WBA.

Emile Bruneau, WBA championship committee chairman, said Monday his committee would recommend the automatic suspension from the WBA of any state or country that accepted a Liston-Patterson rematch at this time.

In their first fight, Liston knocked out Patterson in 2 minutes, 6 seconds of the first round at Chicago, Sept. 25.

3 PA. NEGROES ON SCRANTON'S PROSPECT LIST

HARRISBURG (AP) — Three Negroes were reported under consideration today by Gov.-elect William W. Scranton for one of his four unfilled cabinet posts.

The three are William R. Atkins, 37, of Rutherford Heights; William P. Young, 61, of Pittsburgh, and William D. Johnson, 36 of Stroudsburg.

The report came following an hour-long meeting Thursday between the governor-elect and a dozen Negro political leaders at Scranton's temporary headquarters in Harrisburg.

PLAYED KEY ROLES

All the Negroes played key roles in Scranton's landslide triumph over Democrat Richardson Dilworth.

The four posts still to be filled are state police commissioner, secretary of banking, secretary of property and supplies and secretary of labor and industry.

One of the posts, secretary of property and supplies, is occupied by a Negro now—Andrew J. Bradley, an appointee of Gov. Lawrence.

But, the Negro leaders meeting with Scranton said they would endorse any one of the three names mentioned for any of the four cabinet posts still open.

Later, Scranton was asked whether any of the three men met the standard of qualifications which he has applied to all prospective cabinet appointees.

"They do," he answered, but refused to elaborate.

Scranton has said he will appoint a Negro to his cabinet if the man is qualified, but he denied flatly promising to appoint a Negro.

GIVE BACKGROUNDS

Atkins, a Harrisburg real estate man, was with the State Board of Arbitration for claims under Republican Auditor General Charles Smith, but was fired shortly after the Democrats took over in 1961. He is a native of Pittsburgh and a law school graduate.

Johnson is a councilor director of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce and immediate past president of the junior chamber.

Young, a native of Orange, N.J., works in the personnel department of the Lockhart Iron and Steel Co. and was an unsuccessful candidate twice for city council in Pittsburgh.

Chicago White Sox pitchers hurled 50 complete games last season, top figure in the American League.

LaSalle, leading candidate for the Middle Atlantic Conference's university division basketball crown, dominates this week's division statistics.

The efforts of the George Sutor-Frank Corace duo have boosted the Explorers into the lead in scoring, with an average of 95 points a game, and have helped LaSalle gain a second place ranking in team offense, behind Temple.

The Spring Grove reserves topped Annunciation of McSherrystown 39-18 in a preliminary game.

Carlisle Man Was Last Soldier To Win Medal Of Honor In World War II

The last Army Medal of Honor presented for action in World War II went to a Pennsylvania soldier who displayed such heroism in the face of death that it cost him his life.

Staff Sergeant John W. Minick, of Carlisle, displayed such a marked degree of courage that he was posthumously awarded the 292nd and last Army Medal of Honor presented in World War II.

The Medal of Honor is the highest military award for bravery that can be given to any individual in the United States of America. It is won by a deed of personal bravery or self-sacrifice, above and beyond the call of duty, in actual combat with an enemy of the nation while serving as a member of the American Armed Forces.

WORKED IN CARLISLE

Sergeant Minick was born in the small town of Wall, Pa., near Pittsburgh, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Minick.

Prior to World War II he married a Carlisle girl while employed at the Frog Switch and Manufacturing Company in Carlisle. Later, he worked in a steel mill at Carnegie, Pa. He enlisted in the service on August 9, 1943, at what is now the New Cumberland Army Depot. A little over a year later, he gave his life for his country.

Company I of the 121st Infantry, 85th Infantry Division was moving through Hurtgen Forest in Germany on November 21, 1944, when the first platoon, which was in an attack position, hit a minefield and halted. To remain halted was not good. Heavy concentrations of enemy artillery and mortar fire had been trained on the halted troops. It was essential to get through the minefield and continue with the attack.

"FOLLOW OLD MINICK"

Staff Sergeant Minick of the second platoon went to the head of the assault column and discovered the reason for the delay.

Let's Look At The Record

BIG ISSUE IN 1963
A New Court Battle Could Shape Up
In Legislatures Of States Next Year

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State
College, Superior

THE SUPREME COURT and the Constitution of the United States could get more printers' ink through 1963 than they have received in any single year since President Roosevelt sought to pac the Court. His crusade against the Court was a result of a smouldering resentment against the "Nine Old Men."

THE PRESSURE the Court will be under through 1963 will be from neither the White House nor the Senate. It is going to come from the governors, the state legislatures and congressmen.

Lower House congressmen keep a sharp eye on public sentiment for what was between two of the three more or less co-equal branches of the Federal Government, the Judicial and the Executive.

THE FDR court packing episode was a battle of jurisdictional lusts, in which the struggle for power was between two of the three more or less co-equal branches of the Federal Government, the Judicial and the Executive.

The third branch, the Legislative, held the balance of power.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, shrewdly sensing popular indignation because the Court had held his first series of New Deal laws unconstitutional, sought to make it subservient.

FDR and his "Brains Trust" secretly reviewed and considered several lines of action for "curbing the Court." But most of them required an amendment to the Constitution, or, if passed as a simple law, would certainly go to the Court on an appeal. This would give the Court a chance to declare the law unconstitutional, and FDR would be further back than where he had started.

Moreover, the Constitution said all federal judges might hold office for life. But it was silent on how many Supreme Court judges there should be. It so happened the nine men then sitting were along in years. Here President Roosevelt felt he had found the weak spot in the sedate Court's armor.

ON FEBRUARY 5, 1937, he proposed a bill to Congress that whenever any federal judge had served 10 years or more and who did not voluntarily retire within six months after reaching age 70, the President might appoint an additional judge to such court, but the maximum size of the Supreme Court under this act would not exceed 15.

Such circuitous indirection of means to an end was more than some forthright liberals in the Senate could take. They ran out on the President to join the Republicans in a defeat of the bill.

Thus FDR lost the battle but states, there could be a tide of won the war. His bitter attack softened up the court. Two erstwhile conservatives joined the Court's three liberals for some five to four decisions in favor of the New Deal, key legislation.

Some have said this was all FDR intended; that he knew the Court had often retreated under pressures and would do it again. FDR's intentions are debatable, but the last statement is true.

THE PRESSURE the Court will be under through 1963 will be from neither the White House nor the Senate. It is going to come from the governors, the state legislatures and congressmen.

Lower House congressmen keep a sharp eye on public sentiment for what was between two of the three more or less co-equal branches of the Federal Government, the Judicial and the Executive.

BATTLE LINES ARE DRAWN ON TAX SLASHING

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Anything as popular as lower taxes shouldn't be a call to battle. But the program which the Kennedy administration has drawn up at Palm Beach, Fla., and which it will disclose to Congress in about two weeks in chilly Washington, finds the battle lines well established even before the details are known.

Business wants one kind of tax cut. Labor makes it plain it wants another. The administration may well want a third.

Business favors tax cutting—if along certain lines—and forget about any Treasury deficits. Conservatives frown on tax cutting unless government spending also drops so the federal budget can be kept in balance, or nearly so.

AMOUNT AND TIMING

The amount of the reduction is in dispute. The timing of the cut is, too. And, above all, the question is who gets the cut and how much—and will it be offset by loss of certain privileges in the present tax laws.

Business spokesmen tend to stress the good that would flow from a drop in the present 52 per cent levy on corporate earnings. The money saved, they say, could be used for modernization or expansion, and hence for faster economic growth. They also favor drastic trimming of the top brackets of individual income taxes. The argument is that this would be money most likely to flow into investment markets for new ventures or expansion.

Labor leaders have put forth a different idea. Let the corporate changes go over for a year. The first cut should be in the lowest brackets of personal incomes. This would provide increased purchasing power, benefiting business and thus creating jobs for those now out of work.

SEE VAST DEFICIT

Conservative spokesmen argue against this, contending that since the great dollar volume of tax collections come from the multitudes in the lower and middle brackets, any cut sizable enough to do them much good individually would mean a pyramiding of the federal budget deficit. The conservative argument is that such a deficit could lead to monetary inflation, a rise in consumer prices, for a century and a half.

Such a convention is the last thing the President, houses of Congress, and the federal courts have ever wanted. Such a convention, though authorized in the Constitution, has been consistently sidestepped by Washington, D. C., for a century and a half.

With approximately 40 of the state legislatures in session through the first months of 1963, and state legislative tempers what they are reported to be in many states, there could be a tide of such memorials. Even if unsuccessful in creating a constitutional convention, they would constitute pressure difficult to ignore. It is a trend worth watching through

CLOUDY, CRISP WEATHER FOR MOST OF U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cloudy skies and crisp, freezing temperatures, accompanied by scattered snow and rain in some areas, covered most of the nation today.

A broad band of clouds and fog covered the area from Texas eastward to the Atlantic Seaboard. During the night, scattered light rain fell in much of Texas and in the South Atlantic Coast states.

The Great Lakes region eastward to the Atlantic Coast was covered with clouds and intermittent rain dampened the area.

OCCASIONAL SNOW

The North Pacific Coast also reported cloudy skies and light rain.

Occasional snow fell from northern Idaho eastward through the northern Midwest. The north Atlantic sales also reported snow in mountain areas.

The south central states received scattered light rain and some fog, as did northern Florida.

In the southeastern sector, skies were mostly cloudy and foggy.

Temperatures were generally in the teens and 20s across the country, except for Florida, where readings in the 70s were reported in the extreme southern part.

CASTRO SHOWS DEVELOPMENT TO VISITORS

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A workers' paradise—a tall apartment development where rent is 10 per cent of a man's salary—has been built east of the Cuban capital as a showcase of Fidel Castro's revolutionary government.

Prime Minister Castro is obviously proud of the multimillion-dollar, ultramodern development and says more will be built by his regime.

He showed off the project, known simply as East Havana, to four visiting Americans during a two-hour auto tour of the city last Sunday.

SHOWN TO VISITORS

Guests of Castro on the tour were Capt. Alfred Boerum, master of the freighter African Pilot; Leonard Scheele, former surgeon general of the United States; E. Barrett Prettyman Jr., Washington attorney; and this writer.

Boerum's ship had sailed into Havana that day with approximately $11 million worth of food and drugs as down payment toward the release of Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners. Scheele and Prettyman assisted in plans for obtaining and transporting the supplies.

As Castro's chauffeur-driven, heavily armed automobile approached the development, the dictator pointed out that a street circled the area but no roads ran between the houses.

"There is more security for young children this way," Castro said.

NEED FOR MORE

East Havana has its own shopping center with a department store, barber shop, beauty parlor, pharmacy and a number of other stores. It also has a secondary school and a large recreation and sports field.

Each unit costs $6,000 to build, Castro said. He told the Americans there was great need for more such units in Cuba.

He called at random on several in the group which had gathered and asked them to tell the Americans whether they liked the project. Unanimously, they said they did.

The project has a population of nearly 15,000, Castro said. He added that applications for residences are so heavy that preference has to be given to those with the largest families.

Durante Tangles With Police Car

CHICAGO (AP)—Comedian Jimmy Durante has pleaded guilty to a minor traffic charge arising out of an auto accident Dec. 16 in downtown Chicago.

Durante's rented auto tangled with another auto and a police squad car, after which he received tickets for following too closely, damaging city property and driving without a license.

The case was disposed of in Traffic Court Thursday. Durante pleaded guilty by mail and explaining that he would be unable to appear at the scheduled hearing March 14 because of a night club date in Las Vegas.

Judge Casimir V. Cwiklinski fined Durante $10 for following too closely, and dismissed the other two charges.

Behind her were 48 other beautiful 18-year-olds, some with European titles, a few with well-known parents in the theater, and most with plenty of social security from the Social Register. All were making debuts at the eighth interna-

Beef And Ham Will Lead In Weekend Meals

FOOD REVIEW
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With more holiday dinners on tap, beef roasts and hams will take the leading roles in New Year's weekend menus.

But turkeys, the favorite for Christmas dinners, will make another strong appearance.

Shoppers will find a good selection and variety of meat, fish and poultry in the markets.

One leading Eastern supermarket chain is offering rib roast at $1.05 a pound, while fresh hams at 53 cents pound and whole smoked hams at 59 cents a pound.

Prices of turkeys, quite reasonable before Christmas, are unchanged.

FISH OFFERINGS

Among the special fish offerings are canned Maine sardines, canned tuna, fish sticks and fish portions. Many other varieties are available in various sections of the country. In the Northeast, they include clams, fillets, lobsters, oysters, scallops and whiting.

Prices of citrus fruits have gone up only moderately so far despite the severe freeze in Florida. Adequate supplies of navel oranges are moving to market from Arizona and California. Mexico is shipping oranges to markets in the southwestern section of the country.

FRESH FRUIT

Good fresh fruit buys include apples, bananas, grapes, and California oranges and grapefruit.

Good supplies of carrots, lettuce, onions, squash, potatoes and sweet potatoes will be found.

Dairy products and eggs are good buys.

In the Southeast, chuck roast, ground beef and stewing beef are classified as best buys, while in the Midwest beef steaks, rib roasts, ham, pork chops, lamb chops and lamb leg roasts carry attractive price tags.

The preferred cuts of beef are in greater demand for the New Year's restaurant trade in the West, and as a result West Coast food shoppers will find price tags a bit higher in their markets.
